I had the pleasure of working with Karen at both GoHealth and later at City of Hope, and I can confidently say she's one of those rare coworkers who makes every team better.

At GoHealth, Karen trained me when I was new to the team, and she was exceptional at making sure I understood the “why” behind things before moving forward. She approached everything with a strong sense of urgency and was someone you could always count on to follow through and get things done right.

Later, while working together at City of Hope, I got to see even more of what makes Karen such a strong asset. She was constantly eager to learn, never afraid to ask thoughtful questions, and genuinely focused on building team rapport and keeping morale high. Her curiosity and initiative, paired with her collaborative mindset, made a big impact.

Karen is reliable, driven, and always brings positive energy to the table. Any team would be lucky to have her.
